

- Kentucky Islanders Christian Church in Walton aims to minister to and with the Chuukese community in Kentucky and beyond. Through weekly worship at 3 p.m. Sundays, fellowship and mission-driven outreach initiatives under the leadership of Pastor Bradly Iknasio and two associate ministers, the church provides welcome and support to the recent immigrants from Chuuk State, one of four states located in the Federated States of Micronesia. KICC is meeting in homes in Crescent Springs. The members of Kentucky Islanders Christian Church travel annually to the Chuukese Disciples national gathering in St. Joseph, Missouri, and fellowship with other churches in the North American Pacific/Asian Disciples (NAPAD) of the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ).
- Louisville's New Century Fellowship Christian Church celebrated its seventh anniversary in September 2021. It launched as an African-American congregation worshipping in a small office space, but "God had a greater vision," says its planter, the Rev. Syvoskia Bray Pope. In August 2015, New Century moved into a larger space at St. Stephen United Church of Christ at 1875 Farnsley Road in Louisville. Now a multi-cultural church, it worships there at noon Eastern Sundays.
- Co-Heirs with Christ Missions (<https://www.facebook.com/CoheirsCM>) is a mission-oriented church, focused primarily on spreading the Gospel of the Kingdom of God in Lexington and beyond. Co-Heirs with Christ Missions was launched as an international family house with the primary call to provide a place of worship and fellowship for immigrants and refugees and to convert hearts, as led by the Holy Spirit, for the service of God in the community (to restore human dignity as children of God in the community). The congregation is predominantly Africans who live in Lexington. Foster Frimpong, their pastor/planter, and the rest of the congregation would love to have you come visit. Co-Heirs with Christ Missions (coheirswithchristmissions@yahoo.com or coheirscm@gmail.com) gathers for worship at 10 a.m. Eastern Sundays and prayer service 10 a.m. Fridays at 2350 Woodhill Drive, Suite 68, in Lexington.
- Madisonville's Potluck Church (<http://www.potluckchurch.com>) practices an informal worship centered around a potluck fellowship meal and culminating in the Lord's Supper. Each Tuesday at 6 p.m. Central, Potluck Church reads scripture in conversation, shares each other's prayers, and supports one another's servant ministries and callings. Rev. Rachel Nance Woehler and the other co-conveners of Potluck Church reach out especially to individuals who, for whatever reason, do not attend a traditional worship service on Sunday mornings. Since 2013, the church has gathered for a potluck meal, potluck conversation and communion in multiple locations to hopefully appeal to different potential visitors—at First Christian in Madisonville, at the local YMCA, at a community center, in homes and, regularly since 2019, in the town's old downtown train station renovated into a co-working space.
